

Expense	Eligibility	Special Rules
Abortion	Potentially	Expenditures for operations that are illegal do not qualify.
Acne treatment	Potentially	Because acne is considered a disease, the cost of acne treatment qualifies (including over-the-counter (OTC) acne medications). However, a prescription from a medical practitioner for OTC acne medications is required. And when the expense has both medical and cosmetic purposes (e.g. Retin-A which can be used to treat both acne and wrinkles), a note from a medical practitioner recommending the item to treat a specific medical condition is required. The cost of routine skin care (face creams, etc.) does not qualify.
Acupuncture	Yes
Adaptive equipment	Potentially	Includes various items that assist individuals in performing activities of daily living (e.g. feeding, bathing, toileting, and mobility). To qualify, the item must be used to relieve or alleviate sickness or disability. To show that the expense is primarily for medical care, a note from a medical practitioner recommending the item to treat a specific medical condition (e.g. multiple sclerosis or arthritis) is required. Where applicable, only amounts above the cost of the regular version of the item will qualify. Depending upon the nature of the item, other special rules may apply. See Capital expenses and Home improvements.
Air conditioner	Potentially	The primary purpose must be to treat or alleviate a medical condition. To show that the expense is primarily for medical care, a note from a medical practitioner recommending the item to treat a specific medical condition is normally required. If it is attached to a home (such as central air conditioning), only the amount spent that is more than the value added to the property will qualify. See Capital expenses.
Air purifier	Potentially	To show that the expense is primarily for medical care, a note from a medical practitioner recommending the item to treat a specific medical condition (such as a severe allergy) is required. Several special rules apply see Air conditioner and Capital expenses.
Alcoholism Treatment	Yes	Amounts paid for in-patient treatment (including meals and lodging), at a therapeutic center for alcohol addiction will qualify. Transportation expenses associated with attending meetings for an Alcoholics Anonymous group in the community would also qualify if attending due to a physician's advice that membership is necessary to treat alcoholism. Amounts paid for outpatient treatment at a therapeutic center for alcohol addiction will also qualify.
Allergy medicine (e.g. Alavert, Claritin)	Potentially	Must be prescribed, even if available without a prescription. See Drugs and medicines.
Allergy treatment products other than medicine (e.g. household improvements to treat allergies)	Potentially	Expenses generally won't qualify if the product would be owned even without allergies, such as a pillow or vacuum cleaner. However, an air purifier or water filter necessary to treat a specific medical condition might qualify. The excess cost of a special version of an otherwise personal item (e.g. a vacuum cleaner with a HEPA filter) over the normal cost of the item might also qualify if the special version of the item is necessary to treat a specific medical condition. To show that the expense is primarily for medical care, a note from a medical practitioner recommending the item to treat a specific medical condition is required.

Alternative healers	Potentially	Non-traditional healing treatments provided by professionals may be eligible if provided to treat a specific medical condition. The treatment must be legal. The expenses may not qualify if the remedy is a food or substitute for food that the person would normally consume in order to meet nutritional requirements. Drugs and medicines recommended by alternative healers to treat a specific medical condition also can qualify as medical care, though they must be prescribed by an individual legally authorized to issue prescriptions in the applicable state in order to qualify.
Ambulance	Yes
Analgesics (e.g. Advil, Aspirin, Tylenol)	Potentially	Must be prescribed, even if available without a prescription. See Drugs and medicines.
Antacids (e.g. Maalox, Prilosec, Zantac)	Potentially	Must be prescribed, even if available without a prescription. See Drugs and medicines.
Antibiotic ointments (e.g. Bacitracin, Neosporin)	Potentially	Must be prescribed, even if available without a prescription. See Drugs and medicines.
Antihistamines (e.g. Benadryl, Claritin)	Potentially	Must be prescribed, even if available without a prescription. See Drugs and medicines.
Anti-itch creams (e.g. Benadryl, Cortaid, Ivarest)	Potentially	Must be prescribed, even if available without a prescription. See Drugs and medicines.
Appearance improvements	No	See Cosmetic procedures; Cosmetics; Toiletries
Arthritis gloves	Yes
Artificial limbs	Yes
Artificial teeth	Yes
Aspirin	Potentially	Must be prescribed, even if available without a prescription. See Drugs and medicines.
Asthma delivery devices and medications	Potentially	Delivery devices (e.g. inhalers and nebulizers) will qualify. Must be prescribed, even if available without a prescription. See Drugs and Medicines.
Automobile modifications	Potentially	To show that the expense is primarily for medical care, a note from a medical practitioner recommending the item to treat a specific medical condition is normally required. Expenses of operating a specially equipped car do not qualify. But see Capital Expenses.
Bactine	Potentially	Must be prescribed, even if available without a prescription. See Drugs and medicines.
Bandages, elastic (e.g. Ace)	Yes
Bandages, for torn or injured skin (e.g. Band-Aid, Curad)	Yes

Birth-control pills	Yes	Must be prescribed, even if available without a prescription. See Drugs and medicines.
Birthing classes	Potentially	See Lamaze classes.
Blood pressure monitoring devices	Yes

Blood storage	Potentially	Fees for temporary storage may qualify under some circumstances, such as where the blood is collected as part of the diagnosis, treatment, or prevention of an existing or imminent medical condition (e.g. in advance of a scheduled surgery for use in a possible transfusion.) Fees for indefinite storage, just in case the blood might be needed, would not be considered medical care.
Blood sugar test kits and test strips	Yes
Body scans	Yes
Books, health-related	Potentially	Will qualify only if recommended to treat an illness diagnosed by a physician. The purpose of the expense must be to treat the disease, rather than to promote general health. To show that the expense is primarily for medical care, a note from a medical practitioner recommending the item to treat a specific medical condition is normally required.
Braces		See Orthodontia
Braille books and magazines	Yes	Only amounts above the cost of regular printed material will qualify.
Breast pumps	Yes	Breast pumps and other supplies that assist lactation will qualify. Items and devices that do not help with lactation but merely make it more convenient (e.g., special bras) won't qualify.
Breast reconstruction surgery following mastectomy	Yes	Will qualify to the extent that surgery was done following a mastectomy for cancer. This is an exception to the general rules regarding cosmetic procedures.
Calamine lotion	Potentially	Must be prescribed. See Drugs and medicines.
Calcium supplements	Potentially	See Dietary supplements; Mineral supplements
Capital expense	Potentially	Improvements or special equipment added to a home or other capital expenditures may qualify if the primary purpose of the expenditure is medical care for you, your spouse or a dependent. To show that the expense is primarily for medical care a note from a medical practitioner recommending the item to treat a specific medical condition is normally required. How much of the expense would qualify depends on the extent to which the expense permanently improves the property and whether others besides the person with the medical condition will benefit.
Cancer screenings	Yes
Carpal tunnel wrist supports	Yes
Chelation therapy	Yes	Will qualify if used primarily for medical care such as lead poisoning. Won't qualify if used just to maintain general health. To show that the expense is primarily for medical care, a note from a medical practitioner recommending the item to treat a specific medical condition is required.
Chinese herbal practitioners	Potentially	See Alternative healers
Chiropractors	Yes
Chondroitin	Potentially	Will qualify if used primarily for medical care (for example, to treat arthritis). Won't qualify if used just to maintain general health. To show that the expense is primarily for medical care, a note from a medical practitioner recommending the item to treat a specific medical condition is required.
Circumcision	Yes
Classes, health-related	Potentially	Will qualify only if recommended to treat an illness diagnosed by a physician. The purpose of the expense must be to treat the disease, rather than to promote general health. To show that the expense is primarily for medical care, a note from a medical provider is required.

Co-insurance amounts	Yes	Will qualify if the underlying service/item qualifies
Cold medicine (e.g. Comtrex, Sudafed)	Potentially	Must be prescribed, even if available without a prescription. See Drugs and medicines.
Cold/hot packs	Potentially	Only cold/hot packs sold as medical supplies will qualify; those sold for other purposes won't qualify. Hot water bottles and heating pads won't qualify.
Cold sore medicine	Potentially	Must be prescribed, even if available without a prescription. See Drugs and medicines.
Compression hose	Potentially	Won't qualify if used for personal or preventive reason. If used to treat or alleviate a specific medical condition, only the excess cost of the specialized hose over the cost of regular hose will qualify. To show that the expense is primarily for medical care, a note from a medical practitioner recommending the item to treat a specific medical condition is required.
Condoms	Yes
Contact lenses, materials, and equipment	Yes	Materials and equipment needed for using lenses (such as saline solution and enzyme cleaner) would qualify if the lenses are needed for medical purposes, as will distilled water used to store and clean the lenses. Contact lens insurance would not qualify. Contact lenses for solely cosmetic purposes do not qualify.
Co-payments	Yes
Controlled substances in violation of federal law	No	If the substance violates federal law (e.g., the Controlled Substances Act), the expense would not qualify even if a state law allows its use with a physician's prescription (for example, marijuana or laetrile prescribed to treat a special medical condition).
Cosmetic procedures	No	Most cosmetic procedures do not qualify. This includes cosmetic surgery or other procedures that are directed at improving the patient's appearance and don't meaningfully promote the proper function of the body or prevent or treat illness or disease. There is an exception, however for procedures necessary to ameliorate a deformity arising from a congenital abnormality, personal injury from an accident or trauma, or disfiguring disease- these may qualify.
Cough suppressants (e.g. Robitussin, cough drops)	Potentially	Must be prescribed, even if available without a prescription. See Drugs and medicines.

Dental sealants	Yes
Dental services and procedures	Yes	Includes expenses incurred for the prevention and alleviation of dental disease. Teeth whitening is not eligible.
Dentures and denture adhesives	Yes
Deodorant	No
Diabetic socks	Potentially	Won't qualify if used for personal or preventive reasons. If used to treat or alleviate a specific medical condition, only the excess cost of the specialized hose over the cost of regular hose will qualify. To show that the expense is primarily for medical care, a note from a medical practitioner recommending the item to treat a specific medical condition is required.

Diabetic supplies	Yes	Includes Blood-sugar test kits and test strips; Glucose-monitoring equipment; and Insulin.
Diagnostic items/services	Yes	Includes a wide variety of procedures to determine the presence of a disease or dysfunction of the body, such as tests to detect heart attack, stroke, diabetes, osteoporosis, thyroid conditions, and cancer.
Diaper rash ointments and creams (e.g. Desitin)	Potentially	Must be prescribed.
Diapers or diaper service	Potentially	Regular diapers or diaper services for newborns do not qualify. But diapers or diaper services that are used to relieve the effects of a diagnosed medical condition do qualify (for example, diapers used by adults who suffer from urinary incontinence). A note from a medical practitioner recommending the item to treat a specific medical condition is required.
Diarrhea medicine (e.g. Imodium, Kaopectate)	Potentially	Must be prescribed, even if available without a prescription. See Drugs and medicines.
Dietary supplements	Potentially	The cost of dietary supplements, nutritional supplements, vitamins, herbal supplements, and natural medicines does not qualify if they are merely beneficial for general health (e.g., one a day vitamins). They may qualify if recommended by a medical practitioner for a specific medical condition (for example, a prescribed dosage to treat a vitamin deficiency). To show that the expense is primarily for medical care, a note from a medical practitioner recommending the item to treat a specific medical condition (e.g., 1,000 mg of vitamin B-12 daily to treat a specific vitamin deficiency) is normally required.
Diet food	No	Costs of special foods to treat a specific disease (such as obesity) do not qualify to the extent that they satisfy ordinary nutritional requirements. Thus, the costs of foods associated with a weight-loss program such as special pre-packaged meals, would not qualify, since they just meet normal nutritional needs.
Dietary supplements	Potentially	The cost of dietary supplements, nutritional supplements, vitamins, herbal supplements, and natural medicines does not qualify if they are merely beneficial for general health (e.g., one a day vitamins). But may qualify if recommended by a medical practitioner for a specific medical condition (for example, a prescribed dosage to treat a vitamin deficiency). To show that the expense is primarily for medical care, a note from a medical practitioner recommending the item to treat a specific medical condition (e.g., 1,000 mg of Vitamin B-12 daily to treat a specific vitamin deficiency) is required.
DNA collection and storage	Potentially	Such expenses generally won't qualify. But temporary storage may qualify under some circumstances, such as where the DNA is collected as part of the diagnosis, treatment, or prevention or an existing or imminent medical condition.
Doula	Potentially	Will only qualify to the extent that the doula provides medical care for the mother or child. Services such as emotional support, parenting information, child care and housekeeping will not qualify.
Drug addictions treatment	Yes	Amounts paid for in-patient treatment at a therapeutic center for drug addiction will qualify. Amounts paid for outpatient treatment at a therapeutic center for drug addiction will also qualify, as will transportation expenses associated with attending meetings of appropriate drug addiction treatment groups within the community if attending due to a physician's advice that membership is necessary to treat drug addiction.
Drug overdose, treatment	Yes

Drugs and medicines	Potentially	Will qualify if primarily for medical care (and not for personal, general health, or cosmetic purposes), legally procured, and generally accepted as medicines and drugs. In addition, the medicine or drug must be prescribed, with the exception of insulin. Prescriptions must meet the legal requirements for a prescription in the state where the expense is incurred. To show that a medicine or drug that can be obtained without a prescription (i.e. OTC drug) was prescribed a prescription or other documentation that a prescription was issued (e.g., a pharmacist's receipt with the name of the purchaser or patient, the date and amount of the purchase, and an Rx number) is required.
Drug testing kits for home use	Potentially	Kits that test for the presence of controlled substances probably won't qualify, as they do not treat a medical condition. However, if the drug testing kit is used in the course of treating a medical condition, such as addiction, it could qualify. To show that the expense is primarily for medical care, a note from a medical practitioner recommending the item to treat a specific medical condition is required.
Durable medical equipment	Yes	Will qualify if used to relieve sickness or disability.
Dyslexia treatment	Potentially	See Language training
Ear plugs	Potentially	Will qualify if recommended by a medical practitioner for a specific medical condition. To show that the expense is primarily for medical care, a note from a medical practitioner recommending the item to treat a specific medical condition is normally required.

Eye examinations, eyeglasses, equipment and materials	Yes	Materials and equipment needed for using eyeglasses (such as eyeglass cleansers) would qualify if the lenses are needed for medical purposes.
Feminine hygiene products	No	Such expenses generally won't qualify, as they are ordinarily considered as being used to maintain general health.

Fertility treatments	Yes	Will qualify to the extent that procedures are intended to overcome an inability to have children and are performed on you, your spouse, or another individual whose expenses are eligible for tax-free reimbursement. Expenses paid to or for an in vitro surrogate do not qualify, nor do egg donor expenses unless preparatory to a procedure performed on you, your spouse, or another individual whose expenses are eligible for tax-free reimbursement.
Fever-reducing medications (e.g. Aspirin, Motrin, Tylenol)	Potentially	Must be prescribed, even if available without a prescription. See Drugs and medicines.
Fiber supplements	Potentially	Won't qualify if used for general health purposes or other personal reasons. But fiber supplements may qualify if used to treat or alleviate specific medical condition. To show that the expense is primarily for medical care, a note from a medical practitioner recommending the item to treat a specific medical condition is required.
First aid cream	Potentially	Must be prescribed, even if available without a prescription. See Drugs and medicines.
First aid kits	Yes	Must be for use by the participant, spouse, or other individual eligible for tax-free health coverage under the plan. Large first aid kits raise concerns about stockpiling.
Fitness programs	Potentially	See Exercise programs.
Flu shots	Yes	Immunizations to prevent disease will qualify.
Fluoridation services	Yes	Will qualify if recommended by a dentist to prevent tooth decay. The amount that qualifies is limited to the cost allocable to the current year.
Fluoride rinses	Potentially	Won't qualify if used to maintain general health or for other personal reasons. May qualify if used to treat or alleviate a specific medical condition. To show that the expense is primarily for medical care, a prescription from a medical practitioner is required. Must be prescribed, even if available without a prescription.
Foods	Potentially	See Special food; Meals; and Alternative healers.
Foreign countries, medical care received in	Potentially	In general, expenses incurred in other countries must meet the same requirements that would apply if the expenses were incurred in the U.S. (e.g., the expense must be primarily for medical care, may not be for a cosmetic procedure, etc.). Note that the treatments must be legal in the U.S. and the other country, and that special rules apply to medicines and drugs obtained outside the U.S.
Gambling problem, treatment for	Potentially	May be eligible if related to the treatment of a legitimate medical condition as outlined in a letter of medical necessity with specification on how the treatment will be used to alleviate the issue.
Gauze pads	Yes
Genetic testing	Potentially	Would qualify to the extent that testing is done to diagnose a medical condition or to determine possible defects. Certain testing and counseling required to be covered under health care reform's preventative services mandate (e.g., for the breast cancer susceptibility gene (BRCA) would qualify. However, testing done just to determine the sex of a fetus would not qualify.
Glucosamine	Potentially	See Chondroitin
Glucose monitoring equipment	Yes	Items such as blood glucose meters and glucose test strips are diagnostic items and are primarily for medical care.
Guide dog; other animal aid	Yes	Expenses for buying, training, and maintaining an animal used by a physically disabled person would qualify; this includes the expenses of food and inoculations. Veterinary fees for such animals also qualify as medical care.

Hand sanitizer	Potentially	Won't qualify if used for general health purposes or other personal reasons. May qualify if used to treat or alleviate a specific medical condition. Might also qualify where there is an imminent probability of contracting a specific illness (e.g., from a household member who has a contagious disease). A note from a medical practitioner recommending the item to treat a specific medical condition, or to prevent a specific an imminent illness is required.
Headache medications (e.g. Advil, Aspirin, Tylenol)	Potentially	Must be prescribed, even if available without a prescription. See Drugs and Medicine
Health club fees	Potentially	Only in very limited circumstances would fees paid to a health club qualify. One instance might be where fees are incurred upon the advice of a medical practitioner to treat a specific medical condition (e.g. rehabilitation after back surgery or treatment for obesity). When treatment is no longer needed, the fees would no longer qualify. To show that the expense is primarily for medical care, a note from a medical practitioner recommending it to treat a specific medical condition is required.
Health institute fees	Potentially	Qualifies only if the treatment at the health institute is prescribed by a physician who issues a written statement that the treatment is necessary to alleviate a physical or mental defect or illness of the individual receiving the treatment.
