Child Care FSA Benefit

What is a Child Care Flexible Spending Account (CCFSA)?

A child care flexible spending account is an employer-sponsored pre-tax benefit that allows you to set aside money into separate accounts to pay for qualified non-medical dependent care expenses. Child Care FSA is designed to cover day care costs and other related services (see a qualifying list of eligible expenses below).

Why should I participate in a CCFSA?

A CCFSA can save you money, since your contributions are taken before taxes. The money you contribute to a CCFSA is exempt from most taxes, and can increase your take-home pay by an average of 30% of your annual contribution with tax savings.

What expenses are eligible for reimbursement?

Child care FSA reimburses you for eligible child expenses, including day care, before and after school care, preschool, and day camp. Continue to the next page for a complete list. CCFSA does not cover medical expenses for dependents, which is handled by the FSA option.

How do I contribute money to my CCFSA?

Sign up during Open Enrollment to contribute for the calendar year, or sign up during a qualifying event to contribute for the remainder of the year. Once you decide on an amount you want to contribute to your CCFSA, the amount you have selected will be deducted from each paycheck before taxes are calculated and the money put into your CCFSA.

Who is covered under child care FSA?

Child care is for qualifying children 12 years old or younger who share the same residence as you, or a qualifying dependent who is physically or mentally unable to care for themselves who shares the same residence with you and has income less than the Federal exemption amount.

How do I get reimbursed using my CCFSA?

One debit card will be issued to you automatically after you enroll which can be used with both healthcare FSA and child care FSA. You can also request one additional card in a dependent's name by contacting EASI Gov, Inc., or by submitting a Debit Card Request Form. Benefits debit cards can be used at the register when paying for eligible expenses.

If you don't have your card, you can file a claim along with your receipt showing your name, the name of your provider, services provided, amount, and date. Once approved, your reimbursement will be deposited into your bank account or a check will be mailed to you.

If I elected child care FSA last year, do I need to sign up again this year?

Yes. Both healthcare FSA and child care FSA elections need to be made every year, even if you want to elect the same amount. If you do not make a new election, your benefit will end at the close of the calendar year.

How soon can I start spending my CCFSA funds?

The child care FSA can only be reimbursed up to what you have contributed so far for the year, so you will be able to start spending after your first pay period deduction. You can also only be paid for services that have already been provided; no reimbursements can be made for future expenses.

What happens if I don't spend all my CCFSA funds by the end of the plan year?

Be sure to only allocate dollars for predictable child care expenses. Any unused funds at the end of the plan year's grace period can't be rolled over or refunded, also called the use-it-or-lose-it rule.

Your child care FSA has a grace period like FSA does, so you have until March 15th to use your funds from the prior year, and March 31st to submit your receipts for claims up to March 15th.

How much can I contribute?

Account	Minimum Contribution	Maximum Contribution
Child Care FSA	$130	$2,500/employee (5,000/household)

This reflects the current 2024 limit. The IRS announces changes to the annual contribution limit each October. You may opt to increase your election to the maximum contribution during Open Enrollment if it increases. Please note that the household limit is $5,000 but the maximum annual election per individual is $2,500. This form will be updated once the IRS announces the new limits.

What happens to my child care FSA if my employment is terminated?

Participation in your FSA is also terminated. This means that only expenses that were incurred prior to your termination date are eligible for reimbursement.

What is the deadline for submitting claims?

Your deadline to submit claims for both Health FSA and Child Care FSA is March 31st of the year following your FSA enrollment. If your employment ends in the middle of the year, you have up to 90 days after your termination date to submit claims for services incurred while you were still employed.

How do I determine the date my expenses were incurred?

Child care expenses must reflect a date of payment for services rendered within the plan year and already received. If you pay for a future date of services then it cannot be reimbursed until the services have been received, and documentation must clearly identify the date services will be provided within the plan year.

What sort of documentation do I need to submit?

Documentation should identify the date of services rendered, amount of expense, and type of service rendered. In most cases a valid Tax ID will also be needed. If the service provider does not identify that the service provided matches eligible service types it may be rejected.

If you are uncertain if the service may qualify for child care FSA reimbursement please contact Erisa Administrators to inquire.
